三、閱讀測驗。(共 28 分/每題 2 分)

Tabata training is a very popular way of exercising these days. It doesn't take much time or space, and it burns calories faster than other ways of exercising. The idea of Tabata training is simple: exercise for 20 seconds, rest for 10 seconds, and then repeat (at least eight times). The moves for the 20-second exercise are not difficult to learn. Jumping jacks, high knees, squats, and planks are some of the most common moves. You can decide yourself what moves to do in your Tabata training. For example, you can do more leg exercises if you want strong legs.

JUMPING JACK

HIGH KNEES

SQUAT

PLANK

One great thing about Tabata training is that your body will keep burning calories for at least an hour after 4 minutes of Tabata training. But to have this wonderful "afterburn," you need to exercise really hard during each 20 seconds. If you seldom exercise or have heart problems, this exercise may not be good for you. But for people who enjoy exercising but are too busy to go to the gym, Tabata training might just be the answer. calorie 卡路里(熱量單位) repeat 重覆

28. Who might find that Tabata training is right for them?
 (A) People who want to start exercising. (B) People who enjoy team sports.
 (C) People who want to fix their heart problems. (D) People who already have a habit of exercising.
29. Which is true about Tabata training?
 (A) It is difficult to learn the moves. (B) You need a large space to do the exercises.
 (C) You are free to choose your own moves. (D) You cannot rest between moves if you want the afterburn.

Dear Mr. Lu,

I'm writing to you about my neighbor next door. He has caused me a lot of trouble, and I'd like to ask for your legal advice.

My family and I have lived in our new house for a year now, and my neighbor next door has always been a pain in the neck. For example, my neighbor likes to play music loudly at night. What's worse, he always parks his car in front of my house and blocks my way. To go out, I have to ask him to move his car. At first, I talked to him about the problem nicely, but he kept doing it. Last Saturday, I finally called the police. I thought that would teach my neighbor a lesson, but it did not work. I found his car in front of my house again the next morning.

As a lawyer, have you ever helped with this kind of problem before? Can we meet and talk about it?

Best wishes,

Amy

GO TO MOVIES

Joe: Does anyone want to go to the movie with me this afternoon?

Katy: Count me in! I am free today. We should have some fun during our summer vacation.

Zoe: Which movie do you guys want to watch? And maybe we could have dinner together after that.

Joe: OK! I haven't seen you since the summer vacation began. The Batman Begins looks exciting! Do you want to see that? Or Train to Busan is okay for me, too.

Zoe: I saw Train to Busan last weekend with my sisters. I want to see Batman Begins. Is that okay with you?

Katy: OK! Let's meet at the theater.

Zoe:

It has always been possible to spread fake news. Sometimes, the news is just too interesting. Therefore, as soon as you read it, you share it with your friend right away. It was just an accident to spread the lie. However, how can we be more careful before we send it to our Line group? You can ask yourself these questions first.

- Does the article match the news source of the article? Some people rewrite stories or change the facts to meet their point of view.
- Does the story attack a giant group, such as “the media” or “the government”? Lots of fake news is written to make you think certain groups are your enemy.
- Does the story make you so angry or surprised that you don't want to believe it? Listen to yourself and do more digging on the information of the story.

If you have seen a wrong story or fake news, don't share it. You may find the truth after a long search. Please spread the truth to your friends. Try hard to fight the fake news!
